

DELIVERED WORK

Komfort Place Signature Digital Growth

A premium spa in Lekki, Lagos moved from social-media enquiries to a measured website-to-WhatsApp booking funnel

Status: Live

Domain: Wellness and hospitality

Role: Business Analyst (Contract)

The problem and what discovery found

Business problem

Bookings arrived through social-media messages with no website funnel, no way to see which service or page produced a booking, no answer for questions outside opening hours and little local search presence.

What the analysis found

1

Booking intent was lost between discovering a service and starting a WhatsApp conversation

2

Nobody could see which page, service or button produced a booking enquiry

3

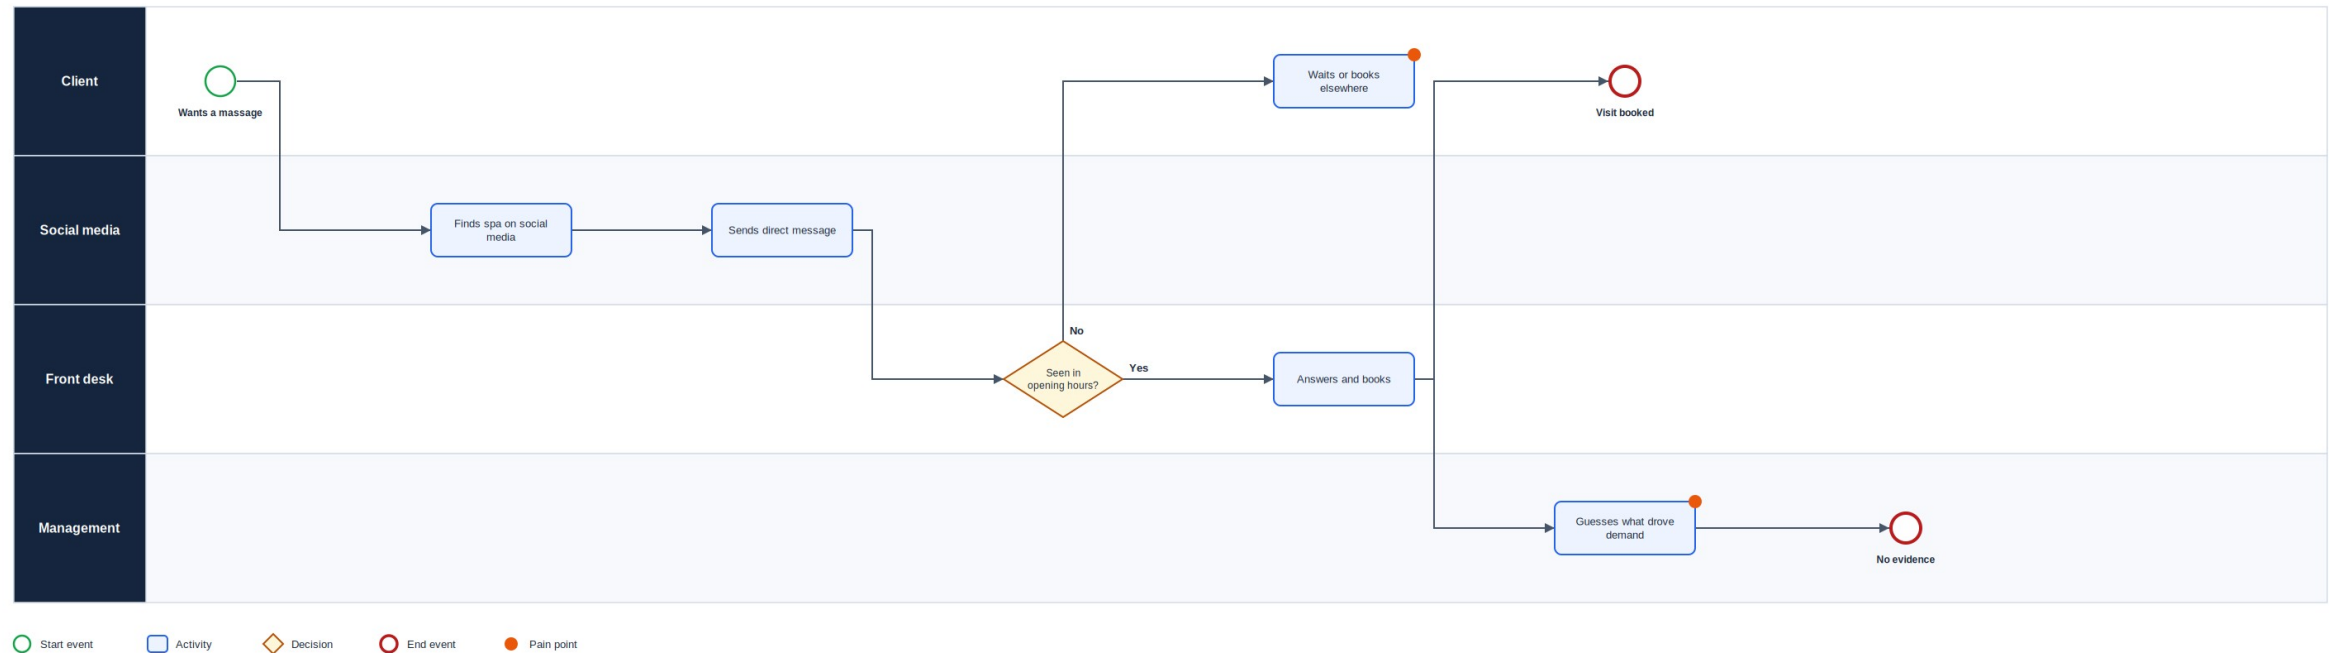

Local searches such as “massage in Lekki” surfaced competitors, not the spa

What changed

Area	Before	After
Booking	Visitors had to find the spa on social media and message manually	One-tap WhatsApp booking on every page, prefilled with the service
Out of hours	Questions waited until opening time	Assistant answers approved questions and hands off to booking
Measurement	No data on what drove enquiries	First-party click and page-view dashboard, plus consented GA4 and Meta
Visibility	Little local search presence	Full SEO layer and a library of local service guides

Recommendations and key risks

Recommended next actions

- Report booking taps per page and service every week
- Match WhatsApp bookings back to the button that started them
- Retire guides that attract traffic but no booking taps
- Review assistant answers monthly against current prices

Risks with a named owner

R-01

Content breaches search or ad policy

Review before publishing; withdraw non-compliant posts

R-02

Assistant gives a wrong price or availability

Approved content only and handoff to WhatsApp

R-03

Roster changes leave the site out of date

One roster list drives every page and prompt

R-04

Declined consent reduces third-party data

First-party click analytics as the baseline
